How Can We Curb Russia?
Perhaps She's Too Smart
AE Comes to Talk
Topitzky Says Don't Cry

By Arthur Brisbane

THE WORLD is indignant. Uncle Sam and Canada especially so, because Russia is selling wheat to Europe 10 cents below the market price.

It is said Russia can undersell the world's wheat market because Russia uses the elevator taking wheat from the farmers on any basis that suits the government.

That may be, but even so, if Russia cuts Europe's price 10 cents, and sells for 70 cents a bushel, that is 10 cents a bushel more than the Kansas farmer gets on his farm. And Kansas farming is not a slave labor.

Congressman Fort, of New Jersey, comes from Europe with a budget of information and sorrow.

All Europe worries about Russian dumping of wheat, and other things, so we worry, and Europe, like ourselves, doesn't see any way of fighting the Russian menace.

You can say to Russia: "You shall not sell your wheat on the world's market." But you can't keep Russia from cutting prices in Europe, which means that our farmers' surplus cannot sell abroad.

Possibly we underestimate Russia, and her great Agassiz, quoted by Dr. Appleton in his "Basis of All Life," said:

"Every scientific truth passes through three stages. First, it is ridiculed. Then, it is despised. Finally, it is accepted. It is said that everyone has always known it."

First, our financial minds said that Russia's government couldn't possibly last. Then, they said, which was quite true, that Russia was hostile to religion. By and by they may be saying, "Everyone always knew that Russia was certain to succeed, and teach the world things that the world did not know."

George Russell, known as "A.E.," arrived in America yesterday to lecture throughout the United States on agricultural life, possibilities of co-operation, and above all, the art of making that life ideal, one of true happiness, as opposed to a life of sorrow, endless labor.

Mr. Russell, an intensely patriotic Irishman, is a brilliant poet, and an artist of ability.

He comes, as he says, to talk with us, not to teach us, and is much interested in the 85,000 abandoned farms in America, with their unused 19,000,000 acres, saying that the vitality of a nation "lies when its farms are brought to the point of cultivation."

Good citizens, including James A. McLaughlin, President of the Yale, President Butler of Columbia, Owen D. Young and Elhu Root, are interested in Russell's tour of the United States, arranged and underwritten by Mrs. Mary Harriman Rumsey, daughter of the late C. H. Harriman.

Joseph Topitzky, of Los Angeles, and the whole Pacific Coast, is in New York and tells Easterners that they "try too much and plan too far."

Things on the Coast are improving, and across the Pacific, in Shanghai, there is a genuine real estate boom. Chinese that get millions out of the market, heaving, learning that the National City Bank in Shanghai would not even give them one and one-half per cent on their deposits, decided to buy real estate, and went up prices.

We're 20 per cent below normal now, average normal, not 1920 normal. We shall recover that 20 per cent soon and then start going up again.

So says Topitzky, which is better, as he says, than "crying."

A mysterious "gun tragedy" in New Orleans, Louisiana, President Byers of the Western Maryland Railroad and Vice-President Gray of the Chesapeake and Ohio, who were on the road were found locked in the president's office after what seemed to have been a fight with pistols.

The railroad president died instantly, a bullet through his heart, the vice-president rushed to a hospital, operating room, where a priest performed the last rites, died four hours later. Whether it was murder and suicide, a quarrel suddenly started, or a duel to the knife, deliberately planned, no one may know.

In Lowell House, at Harvard, a portrait of Prof. James McGowan, of 1878, Elliot, professor of Greek literature, was found slashed with a knife, and the price cut out.

University authorities starting an investigation will find, if anything, bootleg whiskey, acting on a half-baked mind.

Dispatches from Vienna predict early war in the Balkans. It is stated between Jugo-Slavs.

Thief Chase in Back Bay

SHOTS FIRED BUT AUTO ESCAPES

Flight Through Allston and Brighton Seen by Hundreds; Accessory Firm Robbed

A wild automobile chase after a New Hampshire car containing thief suspects, and which continued through the Back Bay, Brighton and Allston early today, sent hundreds of pedestrians scurrying to shelter when a policeman on the running board of the pursuing car sent a shower of revolver shots after the wildly careening car, which finally escaped.

The chase, according to the police, after a trap at the place of Amory Adams, Inc., automobile accessories, 173 Boston St., where the thieves did capture a large sum of money, was seen by hundreds of spectators driving.

The Amory Adams company long suspected their waywardness were being followed, and after the chase, and after daylight the alleged suspects were surprised in the streets were filled with early morning traffic.

Saved in 3-Alarm Fire

ONE FIREMAN HURT; 9 ARE RESCUED IN ALBANY ST.

Lumber and Coal Yards Destroyed; Children Snatched From Their Blazing Beds

A spectacular three-alarm fire of mysterious origin, in which one fireman was injured, and nine persons were rescued, destroyed the buildings of the American Coal Company, the Boston Building Material Company, and the Cronin Lumber Company on the South side of Albany St., just west of Dover St., early today.

Police learned that tramps and other homeless men have been sleeping in the coal pockets of the American Coal Company and it was here the fire originated.

The family of Robert McLaughlin on the second floor of the American Building, which employs a large number of men, and a three-story house on the third floor, were rescued.

The family includes the parents and eight children. The mother, Mrs. McLaughlin, was rescued by the firemen.

FIGHT AGAINST DOPE LONG GRIND, LEAGUE RECORDS SHOWN

CONFERENCE TO BE HELD

No Attempt Made to Limit Production of Habit-Forming Drugs

(For 10 years the League of Nations has been dealing with the dope problem without any material beneficial results. Certain nations of Europe, interested in the vast profits obtainable through the sale of narcotic drugs, have blocked every effort for concerted action at Geneva.)

The Hearst newspapers now propose a Pan-American conference on the subject. Such a move would enable the United States acting collectively with the Pan-American countries to force the league's proposed narcotic conference and dictate the terms of a convention to limit manufacture. The opium bloc would be unshaken. Following is the second of the four articles dealing with this problem.

By KENNETH CLARK
Universal Service Special Cable
Geneva, Sept. 24—The League of Nations documents prove that, under League leadership, the fight against the dope grind has been going on for ten years.

Seven years ago, in 1923, the league's opium advisory committee was set up. Various international conferences should be convened to a conference to examine, with a view to agreement:

- 1.—The question of limitation of the amount of opium, heroin or cocaine and their respective salts to be manufactured for that purpose and other medicinal and industrial purposes.
- 2.—The question of limitation of the amount of raw opium and coca leaf to be imported for that purpose and other medicinal and industrial purposes.
- 3.—The question of limitation of the amount of raw opium and coca leaf to be exported for that purpose and other medicinal and industrial purposes.

WITHEWAL DELEGATION

The result is history. Porter, thwarted at every turn by the league's opium bloc, withdrew his delegation with the approval of the opium committee's declaration in 1923 that the league had no right to interfere with the production of raw materials from which dope is made.

PLAN LIMITATION

The league's tenth assembly, in 1926, unanimously approved a resolution calling for an international conference to arrive at limitation of manufacture of narcotics. The council and the opium committee were instructed to prepare plans for such limitation.

SALE AT CONFERENCE

Nothing, it was not held. It was not even summoned.

The British, in a letter to the league, dated July 8, 1930, naively explained the material was not then available which would warrant the holding even of a preliminary conference.

Essex Boy Accuses Headmaster and Principal; Says Women Saw Beating

Warrants appearing brutal assault are to be sought in Gloucester district court today for Headmaster Irving Stuart of the Essex high school and Superintendent Roy Keller of the Essex-Manchester school district.

The warrants are to be asked as the result of a flogging the two school officials are charged with administering to Ivan Mulse, 14, sophomore, who declares he was summoned to return to school by the principal for the purpose of receiving the flogging.

The town of Essex is in an uproar as a result of the beating alleged to have been given the boy. Late last night, Essex police rushed to the home of Headmaster Stuart on Manchester rd., after receiving two telephone calls from a crowd of men and youths were going to the Stuart home with the avowed intention of giving Stuart a beating.

Moon, having ordered a Gee Bee biplane, single place low-wing monoplane built by (Irving) Brothers Aircraft in Springfield, announced today that if his ship is completed in time, he will be here for the show.

Plans for the air meet, which is sponsored by the park department of the City of Boston, under the auspices of the American Legion aviation committee, are rapidly being whittled into shape.

May Louis E. Bowerell, chairman of the Legion aviation committee, is not ready to announce the program for the show, but expects to do so before the end of the week.

Rumors, spread around the local airport today have it that nine of the Army's crack pursuit pilots, in the latest type Hawk pursuit planes, will be here along with a large delegation of Army planes.

The Navy will be represented by two planes, both from aircraft carriers and land stations.

Park Commissioner William P. Long and Airport Supt. Albert L. Edson are heading every effort to make the meet a success, and the whole-hearted co-operation of the city is behind the meet.

The possibility of Capt. Frank M. Hawks, transcontinental record holder, attending was practically arranged today. Capt. Hawks is expected to take a crack at the existing record of 32½ minutes between New York and Boston.

BOARDMAN WAITING
Despite his statement that he would arrive in Boston late last evening, Russell N. Boardman today still at Roosevelt Field, Long Island, N. Y., evidently awaiting weather conditions over the Atlantic.

Boardman, according to his manager R. W. Emmons, has his Bellanca plane all tested, and is only awaiting half-way favorable weather reports for his trip to Europe.

The Boston flyer will leave New York stop here long enough to refuel and pick up 16,000 post cards and greetings, and then hop for the continent, Emmons stated.

EXPERT TO AID HOMEMAKING PROBLEMS

New light will shine on your homemaker problems if you attend the annual Martha Lee Cooking School at Boston Hotel next week under auspices of the Boston Evening American and Sunday Advertiser.

Mrs. Lilla Pauline Cross is returning for the third time to Boston to throw new light on our household problems, and those who have heard her before know how interesting and well worth while her lecture demonstrations are.

If you haven't yet met Mrs. Cross, you have a real pleasure in store. Mrs. Cross has had a broad experience as a teacher before women's clubs and similar organizations and has tested every idea which offers right in her own home.

There will be no untidy theories presented, no thought of teaching you how to cook. But Martha Lee and Mrs. Cross know that any woman who has the job of running the household, preparing meals a day for a hungry family and trying to keep that family contented in a clean and orderly home, has a big job to handle and welcomes any suggestion that will make her work easier and more interesting.

Mrs. Cross conducts the lecture demonstrations in a conversational manner, answering questions while cakes or pies are being baked. Altogether the school is an informal gathering and where everyone is at home, and free to bring up any personal problem to the special attention of the lecturer.

The dates are Sept. 30, Oct. 1, 2 and 3. The place is the Grand Ballroom of the Hotel Statler. The time 2 p. m.

Lavish Furs on New Cloth Models

By ANN ARDEN

ANN ARDEN broadcasts latest news over WHDH every Tuesday and Thursday at 11 a. m.

IF YOU have been cherishing the hope that you will be able to wear last year's coat with this year's furs, you are sadly mistaken. It seems to us that disposed of the only thing, unless you can whip out some fur tips that you have been saving for just such an occasion and apply them. For this is a fur season, as never before.

ALL THE former winter coats fairly founder in fur. You can hardly see the coats for their furs. And what's more, fur is being put on in new and intricate ways, in new places—at the elbow, all the way up the side of a sleeve, across the front in bands and down the seams in stripes.

A LOVELY new variety of broadcloth is being used, of course, a lot of suede finished fabrics. The favored fur is Persian lamb, mink, fox, natural or dyed, squirrel and kolinsky.

AS TO line, practically every coat flares, if ever so slightly. Some models flare a little at the waist, while others wrap around a la Vionnet and therefore flare only in the front when the coat laps over. Diagonal cuts are still being used in a more exaggerated manner than before, coming way around to be held in place at the underarm seam.

THE FURS are used to make deep, luxurious shawl or crushed collars. Not many off-the-shoulder lines are seen in the formal coats, as that idea is being reserved for the sports models. Revers effects are new. Barrel cuffs, spiral cuffs, elbow cuffs and cuffs giving you an idea of the variety of treatments being applied by the Paris couturiers.

IN ONE of the new coats you will be "every inch a lady"—as Patino predicted.

A SUEDE finished pair in deep brown features the model pictured. It is slightly fitted, and boasts deep shawl collar of beaver fur, and luxurious barrel cuffs of the fur, ending in points at the elbow. The brown etched leathers, fur from Caroline Reboux folds back from the forehead, is tucked in and has a roll along the line of the grogriin ribbon across the back, covering growing hair. Two clips, tinted brown and yellow, accent the turn-back belt.

ANN ARDEN will answer questions concerning clothes, social customs and fashions generally. Address your questions to the Boston Evening American, or Boston Sunday Advertiser or to Station WHDH.

Ousted Forester Asks Reinstatement

Chester Adams, of Orange st., Waltham, who was ousted as forester yesterday to replace him in his position charged by Mayor Patrick J. Duane of Waltham and the Civil Service Commission.

A pair of Irish candlesticks, made in 1721 by Thomas Bolger of Dublin, are beautiful examples of that master silversmith's handiwork. We show you one of them. They are six inches high, square stepped, and with moulded base and cut corners. A round, moulded rim at the top and a baluster stem are further indications of the detailed work of Bolger. The base is decorated with punch work and on the bottom may be seen the hall mark of the time—a crown and shield and the script "prohibited at the Museum of Fine Arts."

Club President Urges Use of Bulletin Board

By NANCY BREWSTER

A suggestion that Massachusetts clubwomen should consider seriously in that made by Mrs. Robert S. Wallace, president of the Wollaston Woman's Club, who urges the creation and use of the club bulletin board.

Such an innovation, she says, would not alone cut down the length of business sessions, but relieve the president from handling trivial details that are a burden to him. In this event, the president could endorse longer programs, enriching the cultural, educational and civic side of club life.

That clubwomen can be educated to use the bulletin board, and read it as religiously as they do club magazines and the like, is Mrs. Wallace's contention.

Local Club Press Chairman Urged to Learn Nancy's Values

"Headline the highlights." This is the advice given in last press chairman by Mrs. W. R. Alford of Detroit, Mich., chairman of the department of press and publicity in the General Federation of Women's Clubs.

"Club press chairman need to be trained out of bridge teas and refreshments into how the money earned by the bridge tea was spent in other words to headline the highlights. I sometimes think we are too near our selfishness to realize their true value. The space is ours when we have a story to tell."

"State bulletins and magazines seem to be an ever-present problem. I urge small beginnings and gradual growth. Too many start with a flourish and then divide to almost nothing at all. It is advisable that the editor be a club woman with the club and federation background."

up-to-date motors, provided with every necessary equipment including heaters, be furnished to transport, the Indian children to and from the schoolhouse; that reservation roads be kept in at least possible condition during the winter months with bridges and culverts in repair.

Should clubwomen achieve such results in the necessary areas, the problem of Indian welfare would be greatly relieved, Mrs. Smith maintains.

UNITED STATES OF EUROPE

"Diplomatic Improbability"

Editor Boston American:

That very eminent and distinguished statesman, Lord, being before the attention of the World Court the unpopularity conceived of European Federation.

Britain's efforts in the interest of the world are appreciated by the masses that have suffered through the mad-dream of war.

Out of the chaos of attendant disorders, the nations that go have sought to fashion and mold upon the ruins of the nations that were a reconstruction that will meet with the demands of all concerned in its controversy.

The traditions of race and kindred cannot thus be so ignominiously dismissed by a mere diplomatic gesture.

Well meaning as Britain's efforts are, nations cannot overcome centuries of prejudice so lightly. Legend that became the basis of the national pride represented itself in the characteristics of their people as a nation.

The conclusion of a Confederation of European States becomes the subject for much internal discussion and dispute, and the background for disrupting wars, whose ultimate settlement can only be determined by the argumentative force of war.

Considering all points of view, the United States may view a diplomatic improbability.

Can'ton's Critics Seared as Sacrificed Soreheads

Editor Boston American:

Why keep knocking Bishop James Cannon, for speculating with his own money? Why make him a target for sanctified sneers? Did not even many of the laymen of the Southern Methodist Church follow suit?

Is it not a fact that many of the churches of Colonial times were built in part by offerings and that churches in New England have this history traced on them?

Is it not a fact that the Old North Church, Salem, the first offering for King's Chapel, and other buildings of this kind in Boston, were in part built on lotteries?

If you do not believe this, poke your nose into history. One of the first ministers in Boston was a man tall in what is now Tremont st. He fell in with the idea of helping him, another came along and the minister who had the man lying helpless on the ground would not get better. The bet was accepted. The man died.

Carabing in Colonial history was looked upon as a means of grace.

Picture on Stamp Cannot Be Handed

Editor Boston American:

A number of questionable pictures placed on a foreign postage stamp put out by a foreign country have been received in Boston. They also have reached New York, where the New York Society for the Suppression of Vice was called into service to suppress them, but this could not be done. They cannot be suppressed in Boston.

These stamps are known as Goya Memorial Stamps, issued in honor of the great Spanish painter and the realistic reproduction of women appearing on the stamps is taken from one of the most celebrated pictures of this artist.

Collectors are buying up some of these stamps and sending for more as some day they will be a real treasure in furthering their stock in trade. Boston can stamp on some books, placing them under the lamp, but Boston can't stamp upon this stamp to prevent its being sold. How inconsistent is law in a time?

Wants New "Cuss Words" for Men and for Women

Editor Boston American:

Boston needs a new swear word. The word "damn" used so often is wearing out in its forcible meaning, according to Prof. William Brewster of Boston University's college of business administration. He recently used "damn it" when things were going "damn it."

Now they are saying "damn it."

This is becoming tiresome with time. Times' tips for another good word that may replace "damn it" is saying "it at first" but if it is expressive, it will turn out to be popular. So many other things have changed in modes of utterance, for in Boston we are now saying mortician for undertaker, cemetery for graveyard, psychopole for insane asylum, and many other changes. Let us have a good swear word for women and another for men. Women should not be kept out of a word.

Women are now saying words that were originated. Women have invented a curse word.

Increase of Deaths by Motor Crows Alarming

Editor Boston American:

Automobiles killed 101 last week in this state. This is no longer news. If an one were killed during the week, it is no longer news. It is a different story. It is a fact that in New England that week there was a death because every one would be calling upon New England to explain this new situation.

But auto are becoming more than ever callulines. They have received the revolution of 1783 in a different shape. We seem to be at a standstill about a century. Police and traffic lights are working over time, but the police continue to be bringing inquiring to hundreds of hearts and homes.

Why cannot Massachusetts cut down its death figures from auto? Why should they be so large? Why is it that when an auto show more care and consideration for the lives of others?

Wishing to express my admiration for your positive stand on the automobilist taxation, I am glad to tell you there are many of my friends who agree wholeheartedly with us. I wrote us because I have talked in each of my friends and reached conclusions in accord with your statement. My talk in August appears almost in detail in your editorial of September 4, 1938.

There are many injustices in legislation which the present day officials hesitate to amend because by doing so they would reduce some revenue.

Any increase in insurance rates on the 1938 figure is an injustice.

The present zoning plan is a hardship and inadequate. For the last six years of our town from Brookline and the Newton into Boston in the morning, and coming out of Boston in the afternoon.

Whenever you might need an idea on where to shift some of the tax burden, or wish my help write some further ideas on insurance, just drop a line, I'll try to cooperate.

Editor Boston American:

Why not institute a drive to put Draper forth as a slicker candidate.

I believe Draper would be our next senator if this could be arranged. Very respectfully,

Catholic High Football League to Open on Oct. 13

DISTON EVENING AMERICAN SPORTS

GAWKY GAUCHO GETS SOME POINTERS FROM AN OLD MASTER

By Bill Connell

With its second season just ahead, the Catholic high school football league is ready for a busy grid year. Five teams are in this growing circuit now and another may be added later on.

The initial league frays are slated for October 13. St. Mary's high of Brookline, Mass., is the first to play.

Mission high of Boston, St. Charles high of Boston, Immaculate high of Boston, and St. Joseph high of Boston are the other four teams in the league this fall.

John Kilmer, former Boston College athlete, is the new coach of St. Mary's high. Bernie Kilmer, a brother of John's, is also an ex-B.C. grid star, coached the Brookline school last year and this fall resumed their take up a Natick high coaching position.

With these five teams in action new interest in the league will be built up.

Rev. Bernard O'Kane of St. Mary's in Brookline has started the league three years ago, in charge again this fall. His staff work has formed a league which should become stronger each year, with the increasing number of Catholic high schools in Greater Boston.

The opening of the Boston high school program, slated for tomorrow, has been put over to Friday when, Jamaica Plain, will face Mechanic Arts, and Boston English battles Brighton at the new Rebooth's Stadium in the Park.

Boston College high is ready to tip off with Cambridge Latin on Friday at Round Field in Cambridge. Captain Glen McCann, left end, Don Blanchard, center, and Jim Moran, who will be at tackle this year, are the line veterans of the 7th championship B.C. high eleven.

Joe Sciffrin, Nick Morris, Jim McLaughlin and Frank Conble may form the starting backfield for the Eagles.

Bob Downes, a halfback at Haverhill under Bill Broderick in 1935, is working out at Boston College. Downes is a senior this year at the University of Miami where he will journey soon.

Koslowsky, Pozzani and Gray, all members of the White City team, are in travel in the Miami institution with Downes, where he will be valuable additions on the Miami squad.

"Bring on Campolo—I'm All Set," Says Jack Sharkey

By JACK SHARKEY
New York, Sept. 24.—They can now bring on Victorio Campolo. I have finished the strenuous part of my training and am ready for my 15-round bout with the Argentine giant at the Yankee Stadium tomorrow night.

In view of the numerous rumors about my being ill, I was subjected to a special examination by Dr. Baldwin and Dr. Sheridan of the New York Athletic Commission. This examination was ordered by the commission in justice to the Garden management and myself.

The report of the doctors was that I was 100 per cent physically and ready for the go.

I shall be around 137 pounds when I step into the ring against Campolo. This is the same weight I was at when I battled Max Schmeling at the Milk Fund show.

I stepped up in my training during the past week and am prepared to set a fast pace against Campolo.

Red Sandwina has given me some strenuous workouts, while George Norvich has also set a fast pace in the gym.

In my final workout with Norvich, I didn't throw a single punch. Instead I speeded up, bobbed and weaved and did not permit my opponent to land a single solid blow. I believe that by moving fast I shall have Campolo hitting the ring with his right duke.

I do not intend to underestimate Campolo's ability. Anybody who can knock out a tough fellow like Tom Henry is certainly able to do it.

Campolo weighs 220 pounds and is six feet six and a half inches tall. He is certainly healthy enough.

I like my opponent big. The bigger the target, the easier it is to hit.

Harry Wells and George Godfrey are pretty big fellows. But I don't fear them with my 137-pound weight. Wells and Godfrey are seasoned warriors and were being passed up by Dempsey and Tunney.

Cards Need Only Two More Wins to Clinch Flag

BROOKLYN IS DEFINITELY OUT OF RACE

By JOE GASEMAN

Whipping the lowly Phils. 19 to 16, in one of the maddest games of the season, the St. Louis Cardinals increased their lead to three full games over the Chicago Cubs in the National League flag fight and now need but two more victories to settle the issue.

At the same time the New York Giants took the Brooklyn Robins into camp and went into a virtual tie with their intercity rivals for third place.

The standings:

	W.	L.	G.T.P.
St. Louis	29	41	4
Chicago	26	44	4
Brooklyn	24	46	4
New York	25	45	3

Chicago is now the only club that has even a mathematical chance of overcoming the Cardinals. Brooklyn's last hope faded away when it went down before the McGrawmen.

One victory in the four games they have left to play with the Pittsburgh Pirates will insure the Cards of a tie for the top and two wins will make them absolutely sure of the flag, regardless of how the Cubs fare in their four last games with the Cincinnati Reds. And one defeat for the Cubs will insure the St. Louis Cardinals of a tie and two setbacks for the Chicago empire will make the race between the triumph certain, even if they drop four in a row to the Ducks.

Cards Must Lose Four Straight for Cubs to Win

Only if they lose four straight and the Cubs win four in a row can the Cards be beaten out, and that isn't going to happen. Not this season, at any rate.

Fearing that it might fix the club if it made any World Series arrangements, the St. Louis management has made no plans or issued no tickets as yet for the championship clashes which will surely take place in the Mound City late next week.

It can safely start to make said plans and issue said tickets at once. All the jinxes in existence couldn't prevent the Cards winning that pennant now.

The battle for the other three first division berths is something else again.

The Cubs can make sure of no worse than a tie for second by splitting even with the Reds, but the defending champions have little interest in the race now that it has gotten so hot. They have already announced that Rogers Hornsby will succeed Joe McCarthy as their pilot, and they may be beaten out by either the Robins or Giants, or both, though it is unlikely.

Robins and Giants May End in Tie for 3rd Place

There is a good chance that Brooklyn and New York will finish in a tie for third. This will happen if the Giants split their remaining two games and the Dodgers break even in the four they have left to play, or if the Giants win both contests and the Robins take three out of four.

Manager Connie Mack and Coach Eddie Collins of the champion Athletics were interested spectators at the final Cards-Phil game. The Streetmen, intentionally or otherwise, put on one of their worst exhibitions ever. They piled up an 11 run lead in the first four innings and then had their troubles writing out by a margin of three runs.

The Cards can and usually do play much better than they showed yesterday. Mack and Collins are probably well aware of the fact. If they aren't, they will discover it as soon as the World Series starts.

The American League representatives have had easy sailing in every one of these fall classics since 1929, when the Cards beat the Yanks in a seven-game struggle.

Statistics Foretell Victory for Macks

Since then, only 13 games have been played in three series and the American League clubs have won 12 of them. The Yanks won four in a row from the Pirates and Cards and the Macks took four out of five from the Cubs last October.

It should be a little closer in the coming tie engagements. The Athletics will be the favorites and rightly so, but the Cards have been playing miracle baseball for the past six weeks and should make a real bid to bring supremacy back to the National League.

Ancients Donate Trophy for Legion Golf Tourney

More than 200 prizes, with the principal trophy a handsome cup, donated by the Ancient and Honorable Society, one of the oldest military organizations in the United States, have been donated for the big golf tournament that is to be one of the big features of the annual national convention of the American Legion, to be held in Boston, October 6 to 9.

The tournament will be held at the Wollaston Golf Club on Wednesday, October 8, and Thursday, October 9.

While there will be several classes of competition, the principal contest will be a national state championship on Wednesday, October 8, in which two members will be selected from each state. The play will be 36 holes, medal play, best golf. It is to the winners of this tournament that the Ancient and Honorable trophy will be awarded.

This trophy will be kept permanently at the legion headquarters at Indianapolis, while a medal or suitable equivalent will be given the winner each year.

Members of the American Legion, their wives, sons and daughters will be eligible for the other classes of play.

At a meeting of the Boston Madison Square Garden Corp. an entire new board of officers for this corporation was elected.

Major P. F. O'Keefe was unanimously elected as the new president. The office of the president has been vacant since the death of Tex Rickard.

One victory in the four games they have left to play with the Pittsburgh Pirates will insure the Cards of a tie for the top and two wins will make them absolutely sure of the flag, regardless of how the Cubs fare in their four last games with the Cincinnati Reds.

And one defeat for the Cubs will insure the St. Louis Cardinals of a tie and two setbacks for the Chicago empire will make the race between the triumph certain, even if they drop four in a row to the Ducks.

TUFTS LOSES Three Dartmouth Gridmen Injured in Scrimmage

Hanover, N. H., Sept. 24.—A long, hard scrimmage took its toll at Dartmouth, when numerous injuries cropped out while the Greens were beating the Whites by a four-touch-down margin.

Will Bill McCall received an injured leg early in the scrimmage and was forced to leave the field. Red Porter, halfback, received a blow on the head, and was taken to Dick Hall's House, where the seriousness of the injury was not known tonight. Sonny Foley had a split finger as a result of a tackle. Bob Wilkins scored twice. Henry Johnson and Eddie Toothaker once apiece during the afternoon, which saw all the members of the squad in action.

Eddie O'Connor and Dick Haney played well at tackle and fullback, respectively. Bill Morton took McCall's place in the varsity lineup.

FINAL DAYS OF ANDREE HILD IN DIARY

Stockholm, Sept. 23 (U.S.)—A real picture of the final days spent by three members of the Andree expedition on White Island will only be possible after the second diary of the leader, Solomon August Andree, has been read.

This was the substance of a communication issued by the Swedish government today. It stated that the second Andree diary, found by Dr. Gunnar Horn, consists of an uncertain number of pages that have not yet been made readable.

GIVES FULL DETAILS
The communication, signed by Professors Andersson, Lithberg and Ahlman, gives details of the other documents that are already known, continuing:

"A sequential picture of the balloon tragedy will have to be worked out. Examination of documents already made, show the accounts appearing in the press dealing with one or two important points of the expedition have been based on faulty reading of the writing.

OTHER NOTES VAGUE
"It appears possible that we shall form a preliminary picture of the last stage of the expedition on White Island through a critical comparison of the documents already read. No far, however, the picture is vague and requires and must await the further enlightenment that might be given by the second Andree diary.

"It may be necessary to seek aid of other explorers who have had similar ice wanderings before a positive picture of the last stage of the expedition will be obtained."

New Yorker to March to Boston With Drum

New York, Sept. 24—Dressed in the uniform of a Continental and carrying a drum of the vintage of 1776, Sanford A. Moeller of Long Island City planned to start out to march to Boston beating the drum incessantly as he goes.

Moeller, who claims descent from one of the Pilgrim Fathers, plans to be present at the American Legion convention in Boston in October. The march, the result of a wager, will be in the interest of education, he says.

Not Near Earthquake

RECENTLY THERE APPEARED in the Boston Evening American a photograph of the Grand Hotel Vittoria, at Sorrento, Italy. Information appearing under cut indicated that this noted hotel, frequented by so many Americans, both summer and winter, was damaged by Italy's devastating earthquake. Due to wrong photograph being sent out by picture services, this was erroneously printed. The quake was many miles from Sorrento. In fact that great Italian summer resort is not in the quake sector of Italy. The Boston Evening American regrets the error.

Washington, Sept. 24—Congressman Joseph W. Martin, Jr., of Massachusetts was a White House visitor yesterday and enjoyed a brief call with Mr. Hoover. The Bay State member was in Washington for a day attending to matters pending in his office at the Capitol.

"We will certainly re-elect Governor Allen," he said, "and I believe that William M. Butler, our Senatorial nominee, will win, too. As for the Congressional contest, the Democrats are doomed to a sad disappointment if they are counting on capturing any additional seats in Massachusetts this year."

It's AS EASY and natural to enjoy the fragrant mildness of a Camel Cigarette as it is to admire beauty when you see it.

Camels are made, and always have been made, for discriminating smokers—the people whose keen judgment unerringly selects the best. But that doesn't mean you have to be an expert to enjoy Camels! The delicate, mellow fragrance of those choice sun-ripened tobaccos is something that anybody can appreciate. Camels are naturally smooth and mild—never parched nor insipid.

Why is there such a swing to Camels? Because more and more smokers are learning the difference between true mildness and mere flatness. Give yourself the luxury of a cigarette that's always pleasant smoking.

Too Much Saving Is Blamed for Lack of Business

Too much saving is the cause of the business depression, William Trafton, director of the Public Foundation for Economic Research told members of the Kiwanis Club at their luncheon in the Boston City Club yesterday.

"Prosperity will not come back until the vanished money comes back into circulation," he said. "Evidently we have saved too much. Not only have we more automobiles, and more homes, and more ships, and more factories, but virtually every industry complains that it has excess productive capacity."

Coast Guard and Police Boat Join in Capture of South Boston Trio

With the arraignment in municipal court today of three men, claimed by Boston police and Coast Guardmen to have been caught in the act of looting a sloop anchored off a South Boston yacht club, the authorities believe waterfront depredations that have cost Boston pleasure boat owners a fortune will be checked.

The men, charged with looting, gave their names as Joseph Kelly, 26, of K St.; Frederick H. Gilpin, 20, of East Seventh st., and Tony Moccia, 21, of 1st st.

ROWED OUT TO SLOOP

According to police, the three men entered the grounds of a South Boston yacht club and commandeered the sloop. They were connected with the sloop which, owned by William A. O'Leary of Beacon st., Boston. The sloop was anchored some distance off the yacht club land and the three men, it is alleged, borrowed a boat to row to the craft.

A Coast guard patrol boat passed near the anchored sloop. According to the police, the coast guardmen's suspicions were aroused when they saw the three men hastening their way to below deck.

The government boat sent a sloop to the sloop, and the three men were taken to the police station. The sloop was then towed to the police station.

MAN SOUGHT IN HEAVY DEATH

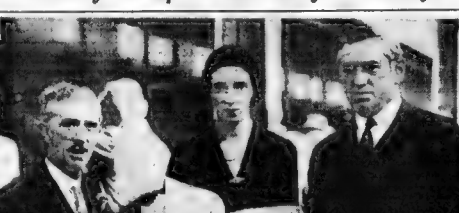

A fellow postal employee of Patrick Healy, 27, of 10 Foster st., Brookline, is being sought today for questioning in connection with the mysterious death of Healy, who was found unconscious early in the morning of September 8 at Warren and Washington sts., with his pockets turned inside out. Healy and two other postal clerks, according to police investigation, were together on the night he received the injuries which caused his death. One of the men whose name was not announced, has told Capt. Jeremiah Sullivan of the L.A. garage at station that Healy and the third man left him in Brookline at 1 o'clock in the morning and took a taxi to Boston, evidently with the intention of continuing a "pay day" drinking tour.

DAILY PUZZLE:

"There has seldom been a time in European history when new wars seemed less obviously in the making."

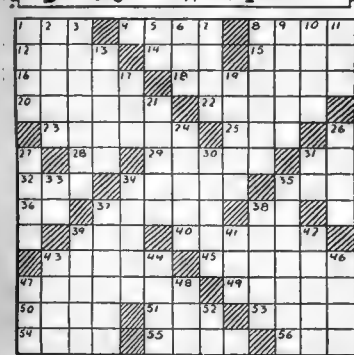

Anyway, it's a pretty neat attempt to hit two birds with one stone.

Without women, this would be a world of tedious misery! But with women (ain't it so?) The world is saturated with woe.
